

BackupChain® – End User License Agreement MS Windows® Version

The end user agrees to this license before installing the software.

This license is a legally binding agreement between you and FastNeuron, Inc. ("FastNeuron"). The product license depends on your acceptance of all of the terms contained in this license agreement.

You are kindly requested to read the terms and conditions of this license prior to installing the software.

You need to accept all of these terms and conditions; otherwise, FastNeuron will not be able to license this software to you.

LICENSE

BackupChain and all its components are the property of FastNeuron. They are protected by world-wide copyright laws. You are granted certain rights to use the software package after accepting this license. In particular your rights are as follows:

You hereby granted to:

1. Use one copy of the software on a single computer.
2. Make backup copies of the software package, either by copying the software onto a CD or a hard disk on a computer.
3. Provide a download on a server for the purpose of distribution to licensed users. This provided you have a license for each user who downloads the package.
4. Copy of the documentation for personal and internal organizational use

You agree not to:

1. Publicize product registration keys, whether on paper or through electronic media. For example, by posting product keys on web sites, forums, or similar, publicly accessible locations.
2. You may not reproduce the documentation for the purpose of distribution.
3. Transfer, rent, or resell any portion of the software.
4. Modify, decompile, translate, disassemble or reverse engineer the software
5. Develop derivative works based upon this software.
6. Use a product key obtained from an unauthorized source. If you determine that you are in possession of an unauthorized product key, you are required to uninstall the software and delete all copies of the key and software, whether electronic or physical. Using unauthorized product keys or pirated distributions of this software constitutes a violation of copyright laws and is subject to criminal prosecution.